

POLITICAL POINTS.

Edw. F. Woodward, the Republican nominee for State Senator, is the present efficient Treasurer of Sonoma county. During his twelve or fifteen years residence in Santa Rosa he has held many positions of public trust, and has always been a faithful and painstaking official. The Republican county convention in placing Mr. Woodward at the head of its ticket selected a representative Republican and one, too, who if elected will represent his party with honor and dignity in the State Legislature, which will elect a United States Senator two years hence.

Walter C. Nolan, Republican nominee for County Auditor, was in town Thursday.

EL VERANO HAPPENINGS

Mr. Somps, owner of the Oakland Soda Works, was in town Monday.

Louis Chance of the Union Iron Works, San Francisco, was a visitor to El Verano, Sunday.

The boxing bouts to take place at White Sulphur Springs Saturday night promise to be a great success. A few of the El Verano bloods will attend and it is said that a challenge will be issued from here.

As the election draws near the Democrats seem to be in the lead. Wherever Fred Kruse, Democratic nominee for Treasurer, has been he has gained friends, and he will undoubtedly be the next Treasurer of Sonoma county.

Jack La Torres has moved back to El Verano, after spending a few months in San Francisco. Jack has secured the contract for putting up the famous baths, which will be known as the Felici & Molley Hot Water and Cold Shower Baths.

The hot water struck in Felici Clerici's new well is now 94 degrees. A bath house will be built in the near future. The lumber will arrive next week and in a few weeks one of the finest bath houses in California will be erected.

J. J. Johnson, the well known and popular foreman of the Nord well ranch, has already shipped 120 carloads of pears and 150 carloads of peaches. This speaks much for Mr. Johnson, who is one of the best foremen Mr. Nordwell has ever had.

Mike Mullen, after spending a week at Harbin Springs, returned home Thursday, sporting a brand new Lane hat, which the young man says is all the go up that way, and that the people around here are slow, as all good Democrats should sport one of these fancy little hats.

A large crowd from this place propose going over to Sonoma this evening to witness the comic drama to be presented by the California Ladies' Vaudeville Club, under the direction of Miss C. Farrell, a young composer of San Francisco, in aid of the Young Ladies' booth of the Catholic Fair.

H. H. Granice of the INDEX-TRIBUNE was in town one day this week. While here Mr. Granice succeeded in getting three new subscribers. This shows that the INDEX-TRIBUNE is getting more popular than ever and that in the course of time it will be the only paper in Sonoma.

Frank Ferragaro, the well known king of El Verano, is tending bar for E. P. Lounibos during his absence in Shasta county. Frank is one of the best bar-tenders El Verano has ever seen, and it is said has already refused three good offers of jobs in San Francisco from summer visitors who own saloons there.

Boss George Reed of Sonoma was in town Sunday trying to do politics. He was seen in seven different places talking to young Democrats, but as the people of this burg think for themselves, we would advise the boss to stay in his little corner in Sonoma, as it is a waste of time for him to come out this way. Now, George, think before you come again, and be a good boy and "do" your friends in Sonoma.

You Guess.

El Verano, September 26, 1902.

Off Campaigning

Hon. Frederick T. Duhring, Democratic nominee for State Senator, has been absent campaigning the past three days. Mr. Duhring is one of Sonoma's most popular, substantial and representative citizens, and will poll a big vote in the Sonoma valley. He is a staunch advocate for local public improvements and a progressive, liberal minded citizen of whom his home people feel proud.

SUPERIOR COURT NOTES.

The calenders were called in both departments of the Superior Court Monday.

In Department 1 the will of J. De Martini was admitted to probate, and Frank De Martini was appointed executor without bonds.

The motion of judgment for costs in the Sherman-Potter litigation was submitted and taken under advisement.

The petition of the widow of J. Respini for a homestead was granted.

The will of the late M. Cummings was admitted to probate and Thomas J. Cummings was appointed administrator with will annexed.

The petition of Mrs. H. H. Kier for a homestead was dismissed on motion of the petitioner.

The petition for a sale of personal property in the estate of Benjamin Cooper was granted.

The final account was settled and allowed in the estate of G. Perazzo.

Probate matters continued: Estate of Julia A. Howard and W. O. Lee to September 29; estates of Emily C. Stanley and W. L. and Jacob Cunningham to October 6.

Civil matters continued: Mrs. L. Samoni vs. William Browne to October 6.

The motion to set aside the submission in the action of Sarah J. Yordi vs. Flora I. Yordi, was denied. A stay of execution to October 1 was allowed.

The default was entered in the action of Buttner vs. Buttner and the matter was referred to the Court Commissioner to take testimony.

Default was entered and judgment to quiet title to plaintiff was made in the action of Clinton R. Linville vs. S. S. Walker and others. The lands involved are in Cloverdale.

The demurrer to the cross-complaint in the action of Edward Politz & Co. vs. Catherine Wickersham was submitted on briefs 10, 10 and 10 days.

The action of Clara I. Estinghausen vs. W. Estinghausen was submitted, and taken under advisement.

Default was entered in the action of Laura J. Fay vs. Charles H. Fay and the matter was referred to the Court Commissioner.

The trial of the action of Benning vs. Benning was set for September 29. The action of the Santa Rosa Bank vs. G. C. Alexander was set for trial for October 27.

Civil cases continued: Rebecca A. Rankin vs. J. F. Burgess et al.; Harry Gerdes vs. J. F. Mulgrew; Thomas vs. Salmon Creek Lodge, I. O. O. F., to September 29.

The demurrer in the Simonton divorce case was argued.

Criminal calendar matters were continued as follows: People vs. Schmidt to September 24; People vs. Sam Sinclair and People vs. Fred Stanley to September 29.

Excursions to the East

Those contemplating an Eastern trip will be interested to know that the Rio Grande System it operating via the Scenic Line of the World daily excursion cars through from the Pacific Coast without change to Denver, Kansas City, Omaha, Chicago, St. Louis, New York, Boston and intermediate points.

These are the Pullman Ordinary or Tourist sleepers, provided with comfortable berths, bedding and linen of the Pullman standard. They have separate lavatories, are well lighted and heated, and in fact only differ from the more expensive "standard" cars in the character of the upholstery and inside finishing.

Besides the colored porter an Excursion Manager accompanies the cars for the sole purpose of looking after the welfare and comfort of his party.

There is no charge beyond the regular railroad and sleeping car rates to those who accompany these excursions.

If you are interested, let us quote you the lowest rates and give you more details, and also furnish you with illustrated books descriptive of the grandest mountain scenery on the American continent.

Henry Lutgens returned to San Francisco Monday after several days spent with his family in this place. Mr. Lutgens recently hurt his foot so badly he was compelled to give up his work for five days.

Miss Annie Pemberton has gone to San Francisco for several weeks to work in the fall and winter millinery. G. H. Hotz is to be congratulated on having such a first-class milliner as Miss Pemberton.

Miss Alice L. Bryant, formerly a teacher in the Sonoma Grammar School, but now a student at the University of California, has been awarded a Levi Strauss scholarship. Miss Bryant is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Bryant of Santa Rosa, former residents of this place.

Miss Emily Poppe entertained a few of her little friends last Sunday in honor of the ninth anniversary of her birth. Ice cream, cake, and candy were generously served.

Many presents were received by the pretty little hostess. Emily is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Poppe and a great favorite with all who know her. She gives promise of being a pianist of unusual ability.

A Communication

MR. EDITOR—Allow me to speak a few words in favor of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. I suffered for three years with the bronchitis and could not sleep at nights. I tried several doctors and various patent medicines, but could get nothing to give me any relief until my wife got a bottle of this valuable medicine, which has completely relieved me.—W. S. ### CITY OFFICIAL PAPER.

BREVITIES

Congregational Church concert and bazaar, Union Hall, Nov. 14. Handsome buggy robes and serviceable whips at Chas. Wilson's, Main street, Petaluma.

Wanted—A small place in or near Sonoma; house of three or four rooms. Apply to this office.

St. Francis' Catholic Church will soon receive a new coat of paint. This church is an imposing edifice and will be greatly improved in appearance.

J. P. Weems received one day this week two carloads of wheat from Woodland via the Southern Pacific Company.

A gun club will be organized in this place in the near future. Blue rock trap shooting will be the principal amusement of the members, who will number between thirty and forty.

Grand opening of fall and winter millinery next Wednesday, October 1st, at G. H. Hotz'. This will be without doubt the finest line ever displayed in Sonoma. Ladies of Sonoma valley are invited to call and see for themselves.

A local minstrel troupe has been organized in this place and the initial performance will be given some time in November. The members are Jas. B. Small, Jack Wilson, Claude Johnson, J. H. Seipp, Frank McGill, George McGill, Oscar McGill, and Jack Modini. A number of young ladies will also join the troupe.

Sixteen young ladies from San Francisco will appear in vaudeville this evening at Union Hall. They will present a laughable sketch entitled "Aunt Tabitha's Surprise Party," written by Miss Cornelia Farrell. This show is for the benefit of St. Francis' booth at the Fair which opens the latter part of next month in Sonoma.

The ladies of St. Francis' Church are making active preparations for their bazaar, which opens in Union Hall about the 15th of next month. Every night during the week a choice entertainment will be presented and on the closing evening a grand minstrel show will take place, in which some of the best city talent will participate.

Josh Westhafer of Longotote, Ind., is a poor man, but he says he would not be without Chamberlain's Pain Balm if it cost five dollars a bottle, for it saved him from being a cripple. No external application is equal to this liniment for stiff and swollen joints, contracted muscles, stiff neck, sprains and rheumatic and muscular pains. It has also cured numerous cases of partial paralysis. It is for sale by F. Duhring.

Personal Mention.

Jan Green and M. Kahn of San Francisco were the guests of So-friends Sunday.

J. P. Weems has returned after several weeks spent in Sonoma and San Rafael.

H. H. Cornelius, Frank Deane and H. H. Granice were seated visitors last Monday.

Celeste Granice has gone to Rafael, where she will assume editorship of the daily and is Independent.

M. A. Johnson is storing furniture and is contemplating to her daughter, Mrs. Zelma Lakeport.

Mrs. G. H. Hotz visited the metropolis Wednesday on business connected with the opening of their new store in this place.

Mr. Gabriel Streiff, whose ranch is located in the mountains four miles north of Glen Ellen, was in town last Thursday and paid this office a pleasant call. Mr. Streiff, who had the misfortune to lose one of his legs by a tree falling upon him several years ago, is still an active farmer and able with the use of an artificial limb to cope with any of the duties of his neighborhood.

TAKES THE LAW INTO HIS OWN HANDS

Rudolph Spreckels' Foreman Kills Four Valuable Deer Hounds

One day last week two valuable deer hounds belonging to James Pieratt, one of Sonoma valley's oldest pioneer farmers, were wantonly shot and killed by the foreman of Rudolph Spreckels' ranch. Mr. Pieratt is a lover of the chase and one of the cleanest sportsmen that ever drew bead on big game. On the day that his dogs were slaughtered he was out deer hunting near Bennett Peak. His hounds started up a big buck and gave chase to the noble game. After leading the dogs for several miles the deer sought refuge on the Spreckels' ranch, where he was brought to bay by the hounds. At this juncture a couple of rifle shots were heard and when Mr. Pieratt arrived on the scene shortly after he discovered his two deer hounds lying dead on the ground only a few feet apart. Fortunately for the man who had killed the dogs he was not in sight when Mr. Pieratt appeared, else we might have been called upon to chronicle a different tale. The killing of these noble animals was most cruel and wanton in the extreme, and Mr. Spreckels will no doubt have a law suit on his hands.

On Sunday last two more valuable hunting dogs were killed on this same ranch. In regard to the latter killing, the Petaluma Argus says: "The foreman of the Spreckels ranch near Sonoma shot and killed two valuable hunting dogs belonging to a Petaluma physician on Tuesday. No dogs are allowed on the place and the doctor, who was hunting, told the foreman that the dogs might cut across one of the fields and asked that they be not molested. Sure enough, the dogs appeared and were shot dead. Litigation is threatened."

ENJOYABLE BALL BY REBEKAH LODGE

Union Hall on Friday night of last week was the scene of a delightful dancing party given by the Rebekah Lodge of this place for the benefit of the Odd Fellows' Widows' and Orphans' Home. At an early hour the young people who were to participate in the dance began to arrive, and by 9 o'clock the grand march was made up of many of Sonoma's fairest beauties and matrons accompanied by their gallant partners, who to the sweet strains of the latest music went through the various figures which ended in the Lancers. A number of the ladies were costumed in pretty, delicate fabrics worn for the first time. The stage was draped in flags and banked with bright flowers, ferns and evergreens.

The orchestra pleased all who heard it. Light refreshments were served in the small dining room to the left of the entrance, and after they were partaken of many were the compliments bestowed upon the ladies in charge for the delicious and appetizing good things set before their guests. Dancing was continued until 2 o'clock, at which hour one of the most pleasant affairs in Sonoma for several months was brought to a close.

Fined $5 for Battery.

Emile Brizard, an employe on the Hearst ranch, was arrested Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Ryan on a charge of battery. The warrant for arrest was sworn to by Peter Sabatin, a fellow workman on the ranch, who charged him with knocking him down and beating him. The accused was taken before Judge Small, and pleading guilty to the charge, was fined $5. Sabatin's face looked like it had gone through a threshing machine, but Brizard claimed that he had only slapped Sabatin's face; that the bruises, cuts and abrasions on his adversaries' face were caused by his falling down while very much under the influence of liquor the day before.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted. Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headaches, and disagreeable belching. "I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. Hickman, W. Chester, Pa.

THRILLING INCIDENT ON THE RAIL

Drunken Man's Close Call on the Tracks of the Southern Pacific

On Tuesday last Peter Sabatin, an employe on the Hearst ranch, secured a jug of wine and after liberal potations of the "vino" became very drunk. While wandering around the ranch in a half-stupified condition he lay down on the Southern Pacific railway track near the Hearst crossing and in a short time was "dead to the world." Just before the up train of the Southern Pacific was due at that point Sabatin's perilous position was discovered by little Miss Florence Mann, granddaughter of Mrs. Hayes of Agua Caliente. Hearing the train approaching in the distance the child hastened to the ranch house for assistance, and none too soon. As the train came thundering along the two ranch hands who had answered the girl's cry for assistance had barely time to pull the intoxicated man off the track to prevent him from being ground to pieces under the wheels of the ponderous engine and train of cars.

WILL BORE FOR OIL

Work on the Champlin and Biggins Ranches to Commence Soon

About a year ago fine prospects for oil were discovered on the Champlin and Biggins ranches five miles southwest of this place. The presence of oil on these ranches was discovered by experts employed by a big Eastern syndicate, who at once bonded the places for $30,000 and $25,000 respectively.

It is now said that a well boring outfit from Southern California will soon be on the ground and active operations commenced.

Should oil be developed in paying quantities on these ranches it will be a big thing for Sonoma.

A FRIGHTFUL STORY FROM PETALUMA

Little Girl's Tongue Nearly Severed by a Dog's Bite

Hulda Fink, the seven-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Fink of Petaluma, was horribly bitten by a vicious dog on Sunday and may die from the result of her injuries. The child's tongue was nearly severed by the dog's sharp teeth and her mouth was lacerated.

Little Hulda had accompanied her father to the Barth residence where he had some business to attend to, and he entered the house leaving the child with other children outside. She wandered too close to the watch dog, which was tied in the yard, and the animal attacked the child, inflicting the injuries as above described.

Glen Ellen News Items

Alex Laughlin, F. L. Blackburn and Emmet Seawell were all registered at the Mervyn this week.

Grape picking has begun here and the town presents quite a busy appearance with the heavily loaded teams passing through.

David Schieff has been dangerously sick with pneumonia, but thanks to a good constitution and the skillful treatment of Dr. Crepin he is now out of danger.

John, who keeps the restaurant, has a contract for picking the grapes on Robert Hill's ranch. He has employed quite a force of men and began work Thursday morning.

The seven room cottage which Mr. Chauvet is putting up for Mr. Sattenfield is progressing rapidly. Mr. T. J. Conner of Sonoma has it in charge. He is a superior workman and gives it his personal attention.

Roadmaster Cowan is doing a fine job putting up a stone bridge opposite the Behler ranch on the county road. This is a much needed improvement and Mr. Cowan is the right man to do it. He has a large force of men under him and is rushing the thing along.

The entertainment given at the Mervyn Hotel last Saturday night by the Glen Ellen booth of the coming Catholic Fair was a grand success both financially and socially. The attendance was very large. Emmet Seawell, the Democratic nominee for Superior Judge; Alex Laughlin, Democratic nominee for District Attorney, and Fred T. Duhring, Democratic nominee for State Senator, were here and attended the dance. The supper was very fine—all that could be wished for. There was cake of every kind and variety, ice cream, cold meats and salads, with the most delicious coffee, made by Mrs. Donahue and served by the pretty girls of the booth. The tables were decorated with flowers and trailing vines and presented a very attractive appearance. The dance hall was also beautifully trimmed with ferns, wreaths and Chinese lanterns. It was a veritable midsummer night's dream.

CHAPPIE, Glen Ellen, September 25, 1902.

Vineburg Items.

Fred Schell of Schellville was in San Francisco Monday.

Miss Nellie Gordonker was visiting friends in San Francisco Friday and Saturday.

Miss Myrtle Switzer and her pretty little sister, Miss Hazel, were in Petaluma one day last week doing some shopping.

L. Quartaroli of the City Hotel accompanied L. Forni to Lane's Hospital, San Francisco, Thursday morning.

Professor King of Vineburg is still here. He thinks the Sonoma people just lovely and says he hates awfully to go back to San Francisco again.

Miss Helene Church, after being royally entertained by her friend, Miss Allenmore of San Mateo, is home for a few days visiting her parents. Miss Church thinks San Mateo is about the only place for gay tally-ho rides and automobil-ing.

MISS UP-TO-DATE, Vineyard, September 24, 1902.

Town Improvements

A large barn and extensive sheds are being erected by L. Quartaroli on the Don Vasquez property, which he recently purchased at commissioner's sale. The tract contains ten or twelve acres of land, which will be converted into a young vineyard next spring. The property has a frontage of over 1000 feet on Main street.

Has an Even Chance

E. Forni, the well-known saloon-keeper of Vineyard Station, was taken seriously ill Wednesday night with hemorrhage of the bladder. He was taken to Dr. Lane's Hospital, San Francisco, early Thursday morning by Dr. A. M. Thomson, his attending physician, where an operation was performed. At the present time Mr. Forni lies in a very precarious condition at the hospital, with an even chance for recovery.

Gov. Gage Appoints Two Clergymen Members of the Board

Governor Gage on Saturday last appointed Father Wm. Lyons and Rev. A. C. Bane Directors of the California Home at Eldridge, vice Thomas Rooney and H. F. Dugan, resigned. The resignations and new appointments are the outcome of the recent disturbances created in regard to the management of the affairs at the California Home, which have been pretty freely ventilated through the medium of the press.

Rev. Father Lyons is assistant pastor of St. Peter's parish, San Francisco, and an able and highly educated gentleman. Rev. A. C. Bane is the pastor of the California street Methodist Episcopal Church of San Francisco. He is also an able man and his sermons have attracted great attention of late. With these dignified clergymen as members of the Board of Trustees of the California Home, we trust for the sake of the poor unfortunate inmates that things will now run more smoothly than they have in the past six months.

Col. Jack Harrington is still a member of the Board of Trustees, and although of a fiery temperament, it is thought that the presence of the two clergymen on the Board will transform him into as mild a mannered man as the most devout well wishers of the Home could desire.

The new Trustees take office at once and will be in attendance at the next meeting of the Trustees, which will be held next month.

WINE MAKING will be inaugurated in Sonoma Valley next week.

The weather has been peculiarly favorable for grapes this season and the vintage of 1902 gives promise of being exceptionally fine in quality.

We have never tried giving it to a real fat person. We don't dare. You see Scott's Emulsion builds new flesh. Fat people don't want it. Strong people don't need it.

But if you are thin Scott's Emulsion is the medicine for you. It doesn't tire you out. There is no strain. The work is all natural and easy. You just take the medicine and that's all there is to it.

The next thing you know you feel better—you eat better—and you weigh more. It is a quiet worker.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 27, 1902

Edw. F. V.
Learnom on the defensive.

Mr. Barnum's innate and exuberant love of a joke, which was a trait maternally inherited, and his frequent habit of self depreciation were not always quite understood by the public. He therefore suffered sometimes from too much of his own disparaging frankness. His first autobiography, issued in 1855, was not meant to be taken as literal truth, but it was so taken, and the criticism of it was very bitter. The sober matter of fact public of that day did not see the Pickwickian sense and the orientalism of statement that pervaded it. The cold type could not carry with it the twinkling of the author's eye.

The three things, however, which brought upon him the sharpest criticism were the three curiosities of his show which were called Joyce Heth, the Woolly Horse, and the Fee Gee Mermaid. The first of these was said to be Washington's body servant and was given an incredible age; the second one was a real colt that was a freak; the last was probably of Japanese manufacture. Mr. Barnum constructed neither the second nor the third, but bought them from exhibitors, and he was himself fooled at first by the certificates of Joyce Heth's history.

Barnum frankly admits in his biography that he employed two of them to advertise his museum and was not trying to make their history too exact in announcing them. He romanced somewhat, he says regretfully, in describing the horse, born in Indiana, as a curiosity discovered by Colonel Fremont in the Rocky mountains, but did this to call attention to a museum of curiosities of which it, with the other two, was merely a fractional part. He said he should not do this again, and expressed a wish that it had not been done at all. The best palliation he could plead for these schemes was that without them he did give a big money's worth to all who visited his museum. No perfectly ethical defense beyond this was offered.—Joel Benton in Century.

Both Thought Alike.
Jones and Smith were two old bachelors who lived on the most intimate terms, constantly dined together and smoked the peaceful pipe and occasionally went off together for a week's holiday by the sea. But a change came over the spirit of Smith's dream. Well on in the fifties he got married, and on his return from the honeymoon invited Jones to come and dine with him and be a witness of his happiness.

The dinner over, the old friends sat down in front of the fire after Mrs. Smith had gone upstairs.
"Well, my dear Jones," said Benedict, "now tell me quite candidly what do you think of my dear wife?"
Jones hesitated for a moment, then replied:
"Well, Smith, if I must speak quite candidly, I don't think much of her."
Smith patted him on his knee as he replied confidentially:
"Neither do I, my dear Jones."

When George Raised Tobacco.
The Wills Tobacco company of Bristol, England, says a London correspondent, cherishes an autograph paper in Sonoma.

Frank Ferragaro, the well known king of El Verano, is tending bar for E. P. Lounibos during his absence in Shasta county. Frank is one of the best bar-tenders El Verano has ever seen, and it is said has already refused three good offers of jobs in San Francisco from summer visitors who own saloons there.

Boss George Reed of Sonoma was in town Sunday trying to do politics. He was seen in seven different places talking to young Democrats, but as the people of this burg think for themselves, we would advise the boss to stay in his little corner in Sonoma, as it is a waste of time for him to come out this way. Now, George, think before you come again, and be a good boy and "do" your friends in Sonoma.

You Guess.
El Verano, September 26, 1902.
of only four words, but to my mind they meant more than any of the labored descriptions on other monuments. "She was so pleasant." That one note revealed the music of a life of which I knew nothing more.

Pleasant For the Baby.
A Canadian firm recently placed with the Montreal and Toronto newspapers an advertisement of a new nursing bottle it had patented and was about to place on the market. After giving directions for use, the ad. ended in this manner:
"When the baby is done drinking, it must be unscrewed and laid in a cool place under a tap. If the baby does not thrive on fresh milk, it should be boiled."

CIDER TIME.

I have a thirsty feelin' on when cider time comes round, When all the hills are red an' gold an' frost is on the ground, A deep, persistent hankerin' fur Martin's cider mill.

Where every boy in Gungawamp hez hed his daily fill. The ol' boss, with his measured tread, is goin' round and round, With apples fallin' in his cogs, a most invitin' sound; An' 'jest below the monstrous press fur squeezin' down the cheese, An' then the foam'n' tub below alive with boys and best.

When cider time comes round each fall I'm allus out an' gear, An' I can't find no "sweet content," no happiness I fear, Until I go to Martin's mill an' take my ol' rye straw.

An' git upon my stiffened knees and hev a goodly "draw."

An' all the lusciousness uv earth comes rushin' thro' thet quill, An' on my knees I bless the fruits uv Martin's cider mill.

No "melancholy days" fur me, ez bards uv old hev found, Fur they are days uv joy supreme, when cider time comes round.

—Boston Globe.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when Editor Ward of the Laceyville Messenger suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of the same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by F. Duhring.

A fellow, evidently from the rural districts, entered a bicycle store the other day and began to examine some second hand wheels. He said he came in on purpose to purchase one. One of the machines on exhibition seemingly drew his admiration for after looking it over for a short while, he asked the price. The clerk told him it was marked at $25. This brought a gasp from the would be buyer. "Say, how much does that machine weigh?" he asked. The clerk told him that it weighed about twenty-five pounds. Thereupon the rural man, with an affected sneer, told him that he could get one that weighed twice as much as that for only $15. And then he went out.

HE WROTE RUBBISH.

Emile Richebourg, the great feuilletoniste of the Petit Journal, was the one writer who knew with unerring certainty exactly what sort of stories the masses wanted to read. He could write down to the level of the most ignorant without affronting the intelligence of the better informed. Dark stories of mystery and crime were his specialty, and he wrote them as easily as a lady journalist compiles a description of a trousseau. In fact he was generally engaged upon several stories simultaneously, keeping sets of labeled puppets representing his characters in separate drawers so that he might be sure of remembering their names and the color of their hair.

There was no danger whatever of his overwriting his market. However much he wrote editors bought it and asked for more. Once, indeed, the editor of the Petit Journal, misled by his own critical judgment or aspiring to elevate the public taste, shelved one of Richebourg's stories and printed Jules Verne's "Michael Strogoff" instead of it. He received 80,000 indignant letters in a week and had to implore the rejected contributor to return to him. So Richebourg wrote and wrote with absolutely unchecked success until his death. He put together on an average five serial stories a year, and he was regularly paid $20,000 a year for each of them. That is to say, he earned $100,000 a year by writing rubbish, a feat absolutely without parallel in literary annals.—Argonaut.

Honey For Burns.

A baby two years old put her fingers into her mother's teacup full of boiling tea as we were being seated at the table at a friend's house. There was a plate of honey on the table. "Put honey on her fingers!" I exclaimed, but no one heeded, thinking, no doubt, I did not realize what I was saying.

Time was precious if the little fingers would be saved from blistering, so I caught up the plate and spread out the little hand into the strained honey, dabbing the fingers as best I could, then wrapped my handkerchief hastily around them. The mother was half indignant, and the hostess looked as though unwarrantable liberties had been taken, but the next day there was no sign of burn, except between two of the little fingers, where the honey had not reached, there were some water blisters. My mother always kept a jar of strained honey for such emergencies, and there is nothing better. Vaseline is good, so also is a paste of soda and water, but neither equals honey.—Good Housekeeping.

"A Look and Half a Look."

While in Florida traveling a country road I asked a native how far it was to the next town, and his reply was, after squinting sharply in the direction of the place: "Waal, I reckon hit's about a look an' a half a look." That meant as far as I could see and half as far again, providing our ranges of vision were the same, which was not nearly the case, as I was unaccustomed to looking across the pine barrens. The origin of the expression puzzled me for a long time, but at last it is settled. After Abraham went out of Egypt the Lord said to him: "Lift up now thine eyes northward and southward and eastward and westward, for all the land which thou seest to thee will I give it and to thy seed forever."—New York Press.

The Practical Politician.

Once upon a time there was an intensely practical politician who drifted into office with the success of his party and found himself in a desirable position, where the labor involved was in inverse proportion to a large salary.

After awhile there was a great change in public sentiment, and he decided to change his policies with the result of getting a reappointment from the new party when it came into power. Then there came another political change that promised the restitution of the old party. "I am convinced that I have been wrong," said the practical politician, "and must turn to the party of my former faith."

Bird Surgeons.

Some interesting observations concerning the surgical treatment of wounds by birds were recently made by a Swiss naturalist. The most interesting example was that of a snake, both of whose legs he had unfortunately broken by a misdirected shot. He recovered it the following day, when he found that the poor bird had contrived to apply dressings of down from other parts of its body, fastened by congealed blood, and a sort of splint of interwoven feathers to both limbs.

If you are troubled with impure blood, indicated by sores, pimples, headache, etc., we would recommend Ackers' Blood Elixir, which we sell under a positive guarantee. It will always cure scrofulous or syphilitic poisons and all blood diseases. 50 cents and $1. R. G. Shoults, druggist.
